

To All Subscribers From The Federal Reserve System:

If your computer has been upgraded to Lotus Notes 6.5, you may be experiencing font and printing problems of ED notifications. We are working on the problem and hope to resolve this issue soon. In the meantime, there will be a link at the bottom of each ED notification directing you to the archive files on our external web site. You can print the notification from this site. If you need to print an old ED notification, please click here.
